(3) ¹The Doctoral Degrees Board members specified in (1)b and c above and their substitutes

shall be appointed by the Faculty Council for a period of four years and in compliance with Section 11c of the HG Act. ²The Doctoral Degrees Board members specified in (1)d and e above and their substitutes shall be appointed by the Faculty Council for a period of one year. ³Each of the groups listed in (1) b to e shall be entitled to nominate members. ⁴Re-appointment is permitted. ⁵The substitute members shall stand in for the members they represent if the latter are unable to participate. ⁶The first period of office for all members of the Doctoral Degrees Board constituted by these regulations shall begin on 1 May 2015. ⁷The current Doctoral Degrees Board, established in accordance with the 2008 PhD Regulations (Official Notices 8/2008) shall remain in office until 30 April 2015.

(4) ¹The Doctoral Degrees Board shall be deemed to have a quorum if the majority of the voting members (at least three of whom must be core teaching staff (“Hochschullehrerinnen und Hochschullehrer”)) are present in addition to the Chair. ²For matters directly concerning the PhD programme and the related preparatory studies, apart from assessment thereof, it must be ensured that the members from the core teaching staff group have at least half of the votes. ³Decisions shall be taken by simple majority voting. ⁴If the votes for and against are equal, the Chair’s vote shall decide. ⁵The Doctoral Degrees Board member from the technical and administrative staff group shall only be entitled to vote on matters concerning the PhD programme if their role at the University permits them to vote and they have particular experience in the area concerned. ⁶The Chair shall decide whether this is the case at the beginning of the member’s appointment. ⁷The member specified in (1)d above shall not vote on decisions relating to academic aspects, particularly assessment of and credit transfers for examinations, nor shall they vote on decisions concerning objections relating to these points.

(5) ¹The Doctoral Degrees Board meetings shall be closed to the public. ²The members of the Doctoral Degrees Board and their substitutes shall be bound by a confidentiality obligation. ³Those of them who are not civil servants shall be sworn to secrecy by the Chair.

(7) The Doctoral Degrees Board is entitled to use the managerial services of the PhD Programmes Office within the Dean’s Office of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne.

Section 4 Admission

(1) ¹Candidates must have been admitted to the PhD programme in order to be able to apply to study for a PhD as described in Section 6. ²Prior to enrolling on the PhD programme, they must apply to be admitted by submitting the required form to the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne. ³They must back up their application with a statement of their reasons for wishing to embark on the programme. ⁴The following documents must be submitted along with the application:

- b) a curriculum vitae,
- c) proof of their general qualification for university entrance,
- d) all transcripts of records from previous programmes from which the candidate has graduated (including marks),

- e) two letters of recommendation, one to two pages long, from core teaching staff members and
- f) a letter from a supervisor from among the persons specified in Section 8(5), confirming their willingness to act as a supervisor ("Betreuungsusage").

⁵The confirmation letter from the supervisor shall provide a detailed statement to illustrate that the applicants' academic performance to date plus any practical experience they have in the area to be covered in their dissertation is sufficient for the PhD programme.

⁶It shall also show that the applicant has the appropriate skills to be able to produce an academic work independently. ⁷Any bias on the part of the supervisor must be stated in the confirmation letter. ⁸The applicant must provide the Doctoral Degrees Board with all records and documents it requires to be able to make an informed decision.

(2) ¹Applicants can be admitted if they have

- a) a degree from a relevant master programme or
- b) a degree from a relevant higher education programme with a standard period of study of at least eight terms, for which the title awarded is not "bachelor", or
- c) a degree from a relevant higher education programme with a standard period of study of at least six terms, followed by appropriate studies to prepare for a PhD programme or
- d) a degree from another type of master programme as described in sentence 2 of Section 61(2) of the HG Act or from another university programme with a standard period of study of at least eight terms, for which the title awarded is not "bachelor", followed by appropriate studies to prepare for a PhD programme.

²A master programme is deemed relevant if at least 75 of the 120 credit points it carries were accumulated in the subject area in which the applicant wishes to pursue their PhD. ³A master degree from a programme carrying fewer than 120 credit points shall also be deemed relevant if the total number of credit points accumulated during the bachelor and master programmes or during a relevant higher education programme of the type described in b) above was at least 300, and at least 150 of the credit points accumulated during the applicant's studies overall were accumulated in the subject area in which they wish to pursue their PhD.

(3) Applicants wishing to be admitted to the PhD programme must be able to prove that they have successfully completed a degree. This is deemed to be the case where an applicant with a degree of the type defined in (2) a, b and d above graduated with an overall mark of "gut" (2,0) or higher or where an applicant with a degree of the type defined in (2) c above graduated with an overall mark of "sehr gut" (1,5) or higher or resp. international grades equivalent to the German metric.

(4) ¹ Applicants must provide proof that they have an adequate knowledge of German or English if neither their studies towards their higher education degree nor towards their general qualification for university entrance were conducted in German or English. ²Proof of adequate knowledge of German can be provided through the German language test for admission to higher education (“Deutsche Sprachprüfung für den Hochschulzugang”) (level DSH-2 or DSH-3), the German as a Foreign Language test (level 4 in all four parts of the test) or another, equivalent test, in accordance with the DSH Test Regulations as amended from time to time. ³A B2 certificate in line with the European Union Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is considered proof of adequate proficiency in English. ⁴Decisions concerning exemptions shall be made by the Doctoral Degrees Board.

(5) ¹The admission procedure begins with a review of the documents submitted in accordance with (1) above. ²The applicants who pass this stage are given a selection interview, conducted by two members of the core teaching staff group specified in Section 8(5). ³The Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform applicants of the outcome of the procedure in a written document that includes information on how to appeal. ⁴Admission for applicants of the type specified in (2) c and d above shall apply provisionally until they provide proof that they have attained the credit points specified in (7) below. ⁵If the requirement stipulated in sentence 5 of (7) is not met, the applicant’s admission shall be revoked. ⁶The Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform the applicant that this is the case in a written document that includes information on how to appeal.

(6) ¹The outcome of the admission procedure as per sentence 3 of (5) above shall be decided by the Doctoral Degrees Board. ²At the request of a member of the core teaching staff group specified in Section 8(5), the Doctoral Degrees Board can grant an exemption from one or more of the admission requirements set out in sentences 2 and 3 of (2) above. ³In accordance with the Enrolment Regulations (“Einschreibungsordnung”) of the University of Cologne, students shall initially be admitted for six years of study. ⁴This does not include the time for preparatory studies for PhD programmes. ⁵The period of admission can be extended upon request if good reasons are given to do so. ⁶The length of the extension shall be decided by the Doctoral Degrees Board.

(7) ¹The Doctoral Degrees Board shall specify selected research track courses from the master programmes at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne, which PhD candidates of the type specified in (2) c or d above must pass by way of preparation for their PhD studies in addition to the credit points specified in Section 5. ²The courses can be found in a list drawn up by the Cologne Graduate School in Economics, Management and Social Sciences of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne. ³The number of credit points to be accumulated by PhD candidates of the type specified in (2)c above in the preparatory studies shall be between 30 and 60, as specified by the Doctoral Degrees Board. ⁴The number of credit points to be accumulated by PhD candidates of the type specified in (2)d above in the preparatory studies shall be between 12 and 30, as specified by the Doctoral Degrees Board. ⁵Credit points as of sentence 3 and 4 must be completed before the specified deadline and with an average mark of at least 2,0. ⁶In order to take the relevant examinations, candidates are required to matriculate temporarily for preparatory studies for PhDs in accordance with the Enrolment Regulations of the University of Cologne. ⁷The Doctoral Degrees Board shall decide the duration of the temporary matriculation.

(8) ¹A written supervision agreement between the supervisor and PhD candidate, detailing the key aspects of their relationship, shall be presented to the Doctoral Degrees Board within twelve months of the candidate being admitted. ²This supervision agreement shall specify the main milestones. ³The supervision agreement can include interim evaluations.

⁴If one of the agreed interim evaluations is failed for reasons for which the PhD candidate is responsible, their admission to the PhD programme shall be revoked. ⁵The Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform the PhD candidate of this in a written document to include information on how to appeal.

(9) ¹All supporting documents must be submitted as originals or certified copies. ²Transcripts of records or certificates in a language other than German or English must be accompanied by a German translation, the accuracy of which must be certified by the relevant diplomatic or consular representative of the Federal Republic of Germany in the country of origin or by a sworn interpreter or translator in the Federal Republic of Germany.

(10) ¹Applicants can be refused admission to the PhD programme if they have been convicted of an intentional criminal act and sentenced to at least one year in prison. ²If they were convicted outside of Germany, the criminal act must constitute an offence in Germany too.

(4) ¹Credit points from master programmes at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne that are cited as being PhD courses in the Examination Regulations for a master programme at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne ("research tracks") can be transferred to the PhD programme specified in (1) above upon written request by the PhD candidate in question. ²If at least 12 credit points are recognised, the PhD programme specified in (1) above can be shortened to one term upon written request by the PhD candidate.

(4) PhD candidates can only submit one or more of their publications as their dissertation if their use as a dissertation does not conflict with third party rights.

(5) ¹Dissertations can be supervised by full-time and on-leave members of the core teaching staff, full-time adjunct professors ("außerplanmäßige Professorinnen oder Professoren") or full-time "Privatdozent" lecturers from the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne. ²Professors from the Max Planck institutes who are co-opted Faculty members can also act as supervisors. ³Members of the core teaching staff, adjunct professors ("außerplanmäßige Professorinnen oder Professoren") and "Privatdozent" lecturers from the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne who have retired or been relieved of their duties can serve as dissertation supervisors for up to five years after they are sent on leave, relieved of their duties or go into retirement. ⁴Equally, teaching staff who were previously

(2) In the case of interdisciplinary dissertations or in cases in which the supervisor is a co-author of one or more of the submitted publications, the Doctoral Degrees Board can appoint three reviewers.

(3) ¹Reviewers can use plagiarism detection software. ²The procedure for using such software shall be specified by the Doctoral Degrees Board.

(4) ¹Each reviewer must award the dissertation one of the following marks:

²All reviews must be written independently by the reviewers appointed by the Doctoral Degrees Board. ³It is not permitted to have reviews checked for credibility by reviewers other than the appointed ones. ⁴All reviews must focus on assessing the research achievements, describe the development of academic research achieved by the dissertation and assess it based on international benchmarks. ⁵If all of the reviewers give the dissertation the mark of "summa cum laude", the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall obtain an additional independent, external review. ⁶If the mark awarded by the additional reviewer is also "summa cum laude", the mean of the dissertation marks in accordance with Section 11(1) awarded in the review shall be "summa cum laude" (0,0). ⁷If the additional reviewer awards a different mark, the mean of the dissertation marks in accordance with Section 11(1) shall be deemed to be "magna cum laude" (0,4).

(5) ¹The dissertation shall be deemed accepted if the majority of the reviewers appointed by the Doctoral Degrees Board award it a mark of at least "rite". ²If one of the reviewer, but not all of them, marks a as "non rite", the Doctoral Degrees Board shall appoint an additional reviewer from among the full-time, core teaching staff of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne. ³If the additional reviewer gives the dissertation a mark of at least "rite", the dissertation shall be deemed accepted. ⁴If the additional reviewer gives the dissertation a mark of “non rite” (5,0) or if all of the reviewers as specified in (1) above gave the dissertation a mark of “non rite” (5,0), the dissertation shall be deemed rejected. ⁵If the dissertation is accepted, the PhD candidate is admitted to the oral defence.

(6) ¹The Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform the PhD candidate in writing as to whether the reviewers have accepted or rejected the dissertation. ²In the event of a rejection, the reasons for the rejection must be given in writing and information on how to appeal must be included. ³Decisions concerning objections shall be made by the Doctoral Degrees Board.

(7) ¹If the dissertation is rejected, the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall advise the PhD candidate, when informing them of the result of the review as per (6) above, that they can submit a revised version within one year. ²If the PhD candidate does not submit a revised version with the one-year period for reasons for which they are responsible, they shall be deemed to have failed the PhD examination procedure at the final attempt. ³This shall also apply if the revised version is rejected.

Section 10

Oral defence

(1) The purpose of the Oral defences is for the PhD candidate to prove that they can independently analyse and assess problems in the areas of management, economics or social sciences.

(2) ¹For the Oral defence, which is open to members of the Faculty, the Doctoral Degrees Board shall appoint the reviewers described in Section 9(1) or (2) as members of the Examinations Board (“Prüfungskommission”) and one additional full-time member of the core teaching staff of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne as the Chair of the Examinations Board. ²The Chair shall also keep the minutes. ³In extraordinary circumstances, the Doctoral Degrees Board can appoint a substitute to stand in for a reviewer.

(3) ¹The Oral defence shall be conducted in German. ²It can be held in English if none of the Examinations Board members nor the PhD candidate object.

(4) ¹The Oral defence shall start with a short presentation, lasting at least 15 minutes, in which the PhD candidate presents the main results of their dissertation. ²The ensuing oral examination covers both the presentation and the ideas and methods upon which the dissertation is based. ³It can cover areas related to the subject matter of the dissertation as well as the actual subject matter of the dissertation. ⁴The Oral defence shall last at least one hour and at most one and a half hours.

(5) ¹The Chair can allow questions from the audience. ²The Chair can also exclude the public from the Oral defence if the order required to conduct it properly is jeopardised. ³A record must be kept of the reasons.

(6) ¹The provisions of Section 9(4) shall be applicable, mutatis mutandis, to the assessment of the Oral defence, which takes place immediately after the Oral defence and is not open to the public. ²It is deemed failed if at least two members of the Examinations Board give it a mark of “non rite”. ³The PhD candidate shall be immediately informed verbally of the result of the assessment. ⁴In the case of a failed Oral defence, the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall also inform the PhD candidate of the result in a written document. ⁵Information on how to appeal must be included in the document. ⁶Decisions concerning objections shall be made by the Doctoral Degrees Board. ⁷A failed Oral defence can be retaken once within one year of the first Oral defence being failed.

Section 11

Result of the PhD examination

(1) ¹After the Oral defence, the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall establish the result of the PhD examination. ²If the dissertation has been accepted and the oral examination passed, the overall mark for the PhD degree shall be calculated such that two thirds of the mark is contributed by the arithmetic mean of the dissertation marks and one third by the arithmetic mean of the marks gained by the PhD candidate in the Oral defence.

³In the case described in sentence 3 of Section 9(5), the arithmetic mean of the dissertation marks shall be deemed at least 3.3. ⁴The overall mark for a PhD degree shall be one of the following:

- 0,0 summa cum laude [with distinction]
- Above 0,0 to 1,5 magna cum laude [very good]
- Above 1,5 to 2,5 cum laude [good]

(2) The Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform the PhD candidate in writing of the result of the PhD examination.

(3) ¹Once the marks have been announced, access to the candidate's files can be granted at the candidate's request. ²The request must be made in writing to the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board no sooner than 14 days after the examination. ³In each case, access to files must be requested within one year.

Section 12

Printing the dissertation

(1) ¹Once they have passed the PhD examination, candidates must make the version of their dissertation accepted by the reviewers available to the public free of charge by reproducing and distributing it. ²This is an integral part of the dissertation. ³To this end, he or she can:

- (a) submit 75 printed copies of the dissertation to the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne or
- (b) hand in an electronic version of the dissertation to the "Exchange Department" of the University and City Library of Cologne ("Universitäts- und Stadtbibliothek Köln") in accordance with the rules of the University and City Library of Cologne. In this case, an additional five printed copies must be submitted to the Tauschstelle of the University and City Library of Cologne and one printed copy to the PhD Programmes Office of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne.

(2) ¹If the dissertation is published as part of a series of research papers or separately by a publisher of research works, the number of copies to be supplied to the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne is reduced to twelve. ²If more than two reviewers were appointed, the number of copies to be supplied increases by one for each additional reviewers.

(3) ¹The number of copies to be supplied to the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne is 30 if a dissertation of the type described in Section 8(2) has mainly been published in journals with an ISSN. ²In this case, 29 copies must be supplied to the Exchange Department of the University and City Library of Cologne and one to the PhD Programmes Office of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences.

(4) ¹The copies to be supplied to the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne in accordance with (1) to (3) above must be submitted in the PhD Programmes Office of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne within one year after the day on which the Oral defence took place. ²If this deadline is not adhered to through the fault of the PhD candidate, all rights acquired through the PhD examination shall cease to apply. ³The Doctoral Degrees Board can extend the deadline for submission to up to three years if it receives a request in good time, supported by good reasons to do so.

Invalid PhD examination results

¹If it transpires, before the PhD certificate is issued, that the PhD candidate is guilty of cheating in the examinations, the Council of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne can declare the examination results invalid. ²The PhD candidate must be given the opportunity to comment before this decision is made. ³The Doctoral Degrees Board shall inform the PhD candidate of the invalid results in writing in a document including information on how to appeal.

Section 14

Awarding of the PhD degree

(1) ¹Candidates who have passed the PhD examination shall be awarded the PhD degree in a public ceremony. ²The PhD candidate shall make a vow to the Dean or, should the Dean be unable to attend, the Chair of the Doctoral Degrees Board, to always act in a way worthy of the PhD degree title. ³This vow can also be given in written form.

(2) ¹The PhD certificate shall be issued once the requirements of Section 12 have been met. ²Once the PhD certificate has been issued, the holder is permitted to use the PhD degree title.
